

A man wearing a blue beanie, a brown jacket, and a blue scarf is climbing a wooden ladder against a large, leafless tree. He is holding a small, green birdhouse with a red roof. Two small blue birds are perched on the tree's branches. The background is a pale, misty grey.

Of all the days in all the seasons
of the year, today is a very special day.

You might not think so yet,
but it really is!

The day starts wintry grey.

But look!

Suddenly, silently
frozen flakes are falling
from the sky.

And ever so softly
all around, snow, snow,
snow is covering
the ground!