Words of Wisdom

'No man is truly married until he understands every word his wife is not saying.'

Wedded bliss takes a lot of planning, so start as you mean to go on. In the interest of future harmony there are some things that a wife should never say to her husband. After all, he might think she means them.

Here are a few examples of phrases you may live to regret:

- * 'You should go out with your mates more often.' (He will.)
- * 'I don't really need a night out with the girls.' (Yes, you do.)
- * 'If you want a new sports car, we don't have to go on holiday this year.'

 (You'll hate that car.)
- * 'Look at that twenty-year-old. Don't you think she's attractive?'

 (You really don't want an honest answer to that.)
- * 'Of course I don't want you to cook tonight.'
 (You may enjoy cooking, but never turn down an offer to hand over the oven gloves. It might be a long time before he asks again.)

- * 'I think flowers are lame.'
 (Ten years down the line, you'll be lucky if he remembers your anniversary, let alone buys you flowers. Accept them while you can.)
- * 'It's definitely my turn to change the nappy.' (That's one job it's always good to delegate.)
- * 'Don't buy me anything for my birthday.' (He won't.)
- * 'If you can't get the time off work, I'll go to all three nativity plays/sports days.'

 (You'll definitely live to regret that offer.)
- * 'I can't stand your mother.'
 (The ultimate marital faux pas.)

If you're lucky in love, your husband will always come up with the appropriate phrase to make you feel better in any situation. Any of the following, repeated on a regular basis, is bound to make for a happy marriage:

- * 'Put your feet up, darling.'
- * 'That dress looks amazing.'
- * 'I'll do the washing up.'
- * 'Yes, that really is a bargain.'
- * 'I love you.'
- * 'Take my credit card.'
- * 'Ding dong Tiffany calling!'
- * 'The kids are going to stay with my parents. We're going to Venice for the weekend.'

- * 'Let's get a takeaway.'
- * 'You still look as great as the day we met.'

TEN DON'TS FOR HIS OFFICE DO

- 1 Practise pole dancing on the dance floor.
- 2 Suggest endless ways of making the company and your husband more efficient.
- 3 Get horribly drunk and throw up in the dinner.
- 4 Tell his work colleagues exactly what he thinks of them.
- 6 Challenge the weedy security guard to an arm-wrestling contest and win.
- 6 Bribe the DJ to play nothing but slow numbers and then spend the night smooching with your hubby.
- 7 Insist on getting up and singing a song – even though it isn't a karaoke night.
- 8 Start a food fight.
- 9 Snog the boss.
- 10 Snog the boss's wife.
