

The best MARCO POLO Insider Tips

Our top 15 Insider Tips

INSIDER TIP ▶ Patience is a virtue

It's worth joining the queue of waiting guests at the Náoussa taverna in Firá for the restaurant's food and value for money → p. 42

INSIDER TIP ▶ Enigmatic T-shirt symbols

The stylish T-shirts designed by Werner Hampel at New Art in Firá leave you puzzling and make them an original souvenir to take back home → p. 44

INSIDER TIP ▶ Collages inspired by island's nature

The German artist Leoni Schmiedel creatively uses everything she finds in nature and the houses of Santorini for her collages → p. 44

INSIDER TIP ▶ Affordable yet comfortable accommodation

Although close to the centre, the Hotel Golden Star in Firá has a tranquil setting with pool and sea view → p. 46

INSIDER TIP ▶ Sea-inspired garden

Besides its tasty cuisine, Jutta's Café in Kamári attracts guests with its garden, lovingly decorated with sea shells → p. 55

INSIDER TIP ▶ Insider art

The gallery owner Antónios Argyrós exhibits international contemporary art in his unmissable Art Space gallery just outside Kamári. He also offers free wine-tastings → p. 58

INSIDER TIP ▶ In family hands

The traditional Saliveros taverna in Kamári is run by the whole family who go to great lengths to satisfy guests → p. 56

INSIDER TIP ▶ A village in a tranquil valley

The village of Vóthonas (photo above) appears to have stood still in time with very few inhabitants still living there. Those who venture here will be rewarded by the village's morbid beauty, untouched by tourism → p. 65

INSIDER TIP ▶ Dine like a prince of

Santorini

When Kamári locals go out to eat, they usually head for Prince. The restaurant serves the traditional yellow pea puree fáva flavoured with almonds and pork filet served with prunes → p. 56

INSIDER TIP ▶ Fantastic food, good value for money

Despite its unspectacular setting on the main road between Firá and Karterádos, the Kyrá Niki taverna more than makes up with a creatively decorated interior and excellent dishes at fair prices. Order a salad and you can eat the bowl as well! → p. 41

INSIDER TIP ▶ Adventure inside the caldera

Actively explore the caldera by taking up the paddles in a guided sea kayaking tour. Easier tours are also available for beginners → p. 106

INSIDER TIP ▶ Glass condoms

Only a handful of works exhibited at the glassworks gallery The Wave (photo below) in Oía are designed for use but many are sold for a good cause → p. 87

GREAT PLACES FOR FREE

Discover new places and save money

● Ferry to Thirásia

Early morning on almost every day of the week, a small boat ferries tourists and workers from Oía to Ríva on the neighbouring island of Thirásia. This free service returns to Oía in the afternoon → p. 91

● Sacred food

Patron saint day festivals are celebrated on the island with the preparation of a meal distributed to locals who queue up patiently in front of the church dressed in their Sunday best. This frugal feast is hosted e.g. by the Ágios Artémios church on October 20 at around 10am → p. 111

● Wine tasting in a quaint village setting

Unlike most of the other wineries around the island, the tiny Gaválas Winery in Mégalochóri warmly invites visitors to taste their wines for free in its cosy atmosphere. You can of course buy their wines here too → p. 61

● Greek bagpipes

Contrary to popular misconception, the Scots cannot lay claim to the invention of the bagpipe. Bagpipes were in fact a popular instrument played on Santorini and the other Cyclades islands particular at carnival time. You can learn more about this unique instrument and even listen to its sounds at the Fortress of Akrotíri → p. 72

● Meeting the island's artists

The pottery workshops and painters' studios at Mégalochóri are not a destination for the busloads of island-hopping cruise passengers who visit Santorini. Although some of the exhibitions resemble museums, none of them charge admission (photo) → p. 62

● Pools open to the public

If you are staying in a hotel without a pool but would like to lounge around one, the Santorini Camping Site and, in high summer, the Hotel Golden Star in Firá warmly welcome non-paying guests to use their pools. The only condition is you buy something from their poolside bar and do not bring your own drinks → p. 46, 47

Unique experiences

● Cave apartments with skyline balconies

Built into niches carved out of the caldera, these cave apartments are a great way to experience the true Santorini lifestyle. The Scirocco Apartments in Firá are a good address; the terraces and balconies appear to be floating between the sky and the Aegean → p. 47

● Home of the dead

Santorini's graveyards such as the one in Vourvouílos resemble small villages consisting exclusively of chapels. The ossuaries serve as the final resting place of generations of human skeletal remains → p. 49

● Village hidden in the gorge

The volcanic island is world renowned for its villages built into the caldera. Yet Santorini is also home to other settlements in the surrounding gorges with many houses tucked in caves – their whereabouts kept hidden from pirates. Karterádos is one of these villages → p. 48

● Food on a tray

In keeping with old Greek tradition, rather than offering you a menu, the waiter at the Símos taverna in Firostefáni will bring a tray full of tasty dishes to your table for you to choose from → p. 42

● Port nestled below lava cliffs

Santorini has battled against the elements of fire and water since the beginning of time. Nowhere is this more evident than down at the promenade along the tiny Ammoúdi port in Oía where the landscape is a compact mixture of volcanic ash, pumice, lava and sea (photo) → p. 83

● Adventure beaches

It helps to be of the adventurous type if you want to discover most of Santorini's tiny, secluded beaches. One of the island's hidden gems is the White Beach which can only be reached by boat → p. 74

● Fishermen's caves

The fishermen of Santorini also carved out caves from the soft rock where they kept their boats and fishing equipment. In Akrotíri, many of these niches have been transformed into tavernas; the Meliha taverna even has its own art gallery → p. 73
